

Case studies - Benefits of completing a graduate placement

Sian Thomas

Sian Thomas, Project Officer, Sustainability West Midlands, talks about how she secured her current role through a graduate placement. She also discusses the various placements she undertook since leaving university and how they have helped her decide the direction she would like her career to take.

View this video here.

Oneke Whitter

Oneke Whitter undertook a placement with Telford and Wrekin Council as Economic Development Support Officer. In this brief interview she talks about her experience, challenges, highlights, and how she has benefitted from using a placement service.

View this video here.

